The royal college of general practitioners CSA centre in Croydon is based inside what used to be known as the NLA Tower. The Tower has now been named Number 1 Croydon.

It is a tall white octagonal shaped building and is easily noticed when arriving from the left hand side of the East Croydon station entrance.

No 1 Croydon has 21 floors and RCGP are based on the 18th, 19th and 20th floors.

Map Directions

Travel by Train (to East Croydon station)

From Central London direct trains run from Charing Cross, City Thames Link, Victoria and London Bridge. Direct trains also run from Brighton, Bedford, Watford, and Gatwick

By Bus and Tram

Numerous buses and trams stop at East Croydon. See the TFL website for full details.

By Car

From Central London or from the South, follow signs to Croydon. Nearing Croydon, follow signs to East Croydon Station.

Parking

We regret that parking in the building is limited. Numerous alternative car parks can be found within a half mile radius of the centre, including Wellesley Street, Surrey Street, Charles Street, Hazledean Road, Barclay Road, Dingwall Avenue (the Allders car park), Wellesley Grove, Tamworth Place, Tamworth Road and South End, and can all be located using the above map.

Royal College of General Practitioners

No 1. Croydon, 12-16 Addiscombe Road, East Croydon. CR0 0XT